CAUCUS VOTES TO PLACE RAW WOOL ON FREE LIST

Amendment Proposed to Place 15 Per Cent Duty Rejected; Suggestions for President Are Attacked and Defended

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The Democratic caucus voted decisively today to support the wool schedule of the Underwood tariff bill, placing raw wool on the free list after Representative Underwood had made a stirring appeal for the support of the caucus. By a vote of 100 to 42 an amendment offered by Representative Dies of Texas to place raw wool on the dutiable list was rejected.

Representative Dies' amendment proposed to place a duty of 15 per cent ad valorem on raw wool, and other champions of dutiable wool insisting that this was the judgment of the ways and means committee before President Wilson saw the bill and suggested a change.

Majority Leader Underwood, in winding up the discussion, warmly defended both the committee and the president. He declared that the president had a right to make suggestions to congress relating to the tariff, but that the bill as a whole met with the chief executive's approval when he first read it as it came from the committee.

Wilson Made Suggestions.

"Out of 4,000 or more items in the bill," said Mr. Underwood, "the president only made two suggestions, those affecting the sugar and wool schedules. It seems to me that we should accept those suggestions from the president of the United States."

Representatives Hainey of Illinois and Harrison of New York also spoke on behalf of the committee defending its action and the attitude of the president.

The attack upon the committee and president began as soon as the insurgent Democrats opened the discussion on the schedule.

Representative Alexander of Missouri declared that the committee overstepped all proper bounds in holding up President Wilson as a club over the heads of the members and that the president had exerted "indue influence" in having wool placed on the free list in the bill.

Representative Montague of Virginia, a new member, attacked the president in a spirited speech, declaring that it was his "constitutional and inherent right" to suggest what should go in a tariff bill and that neither he nor the committee were subject to criticism for their cooperation in framing the bill.

Insurgents Criticize President.

Representative Dies insisted that the government was made up of three distinct branches with separate duties to perform.

"It is not only the right of congress," he said, "to originate revenue measures, but it is exclusively right, and any attempt from another branch of the government to dictate or interfere with that right should not be permitted by his body."

The debate on this phase of the tariff fight was heated and prolonged.

Representative Curley of Massachusetts, was one of the president's champions. Among the principal supporters of the Dies' amendment for a 15 per cent wool duty were Representatives Ashbrooke, Post and Bathrick of Ohio; Ferguson of New Mexico; Adair and Cline of Indiana and Stout of Montana.

The 42 Democrats who voted for the 15 per cent duty were: Adair, Barnhart and Cline of Indiana; Alexander of Missouri; Ashbrooke, Bathrick, Cline, Francis, Post, Sharp, Whitacre and White of Ohio; Broussard, Dupre, Elder, Estepinal, Lazaro and Morgan

DAUGHTERS FAIL TO ELECT A PRESIDENT

Vote Divided So That No One of Three Candidates Re- ceived Majority

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The count tonight of the ballots cast for president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution in annual congress here, disclosed that there had been no election, the vote being divided so that no one of the three candidates had mustered a majority.

Mrs. John Miller, Morton of Idaho, N. Y., got 519; Mrs. William Cummings Story, New York city, 556, and Mrs. Charles B. Bryan, Memphis, Tenn., 103. On the face of the ballots cast 590 votes were necessary to elect. Balloting will be resumed tomorrow.

Although, after a day of spirited balloting the delegates failed to elect the head of their ticket, a number of minor officers were elected. These included:

Mrs. Henry L. Mann, District of Columbia, vice, president-general, in charge of the organization of chapters.

Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, District of Columbia, chaplain-general.

Mrs. Julius C. Buttrick, Michigan, corresponding secretary-general.

Mrs. Caius H. Brumbaugh, District of Columbia, registrar-general.

Mrs. Joseph E. Ransdell, Louisiana, treasurer-general.

Mrs. Charles W. Bassett, Maryland, historian-general.

Mrs. Edward Orton, Jr., Ohio, assistant historian-general.

Mrs. George W. Starnes, District of Columbia, librarian-general.

Mrs. William C. Boyie, Ohio, recording secretary-general.

Only three of the 10 vice-presidents-general balloted for were elected; these were Mrs. John Van Landingham, North Carolina; Mrs. R. H. Cunningham, Kentucky; and Mrs. Thomas R. Day, Tennessee.

Mrs. John C. Ames was elected vice president.

LEADERS MAY SEAT CARRANZA IN JUNE

Men and Arms Expected to Force Resignation of Presi- dent Huerta

NEW ORLEANS, April 16.—Military and political leaders from all parts of the Mexican republic are arriving in New Orleans daily, most of them en route to Coahuila to join Governor Venustiano Carranza. Colonel Silvio M. Garcia, former commandant of the state of Zacatecas, who arrived today, declared that Carranza would be seated as president of the republic by June 15.

Colonel Garcia declared that Carranza, within a month would be able to mobilize an army of 70,000 men, two thirds of whom would remain on garrison duty throughout the republic, while 25,000 picked men engaged in the campaign against the capital.

He said Mexicans are aroused as never before, as a result of recent barbarities, and the effort to establish a military government "more brutal than ever was dreamed of by any of Huerta's predecessors." The federal troops, he said, were raiding and burning ranches and even murdering pacific residents.

Colonel Garcia said the state of Zacatecas is controlled by the revolutionists under the leadership of Colonel Emilio Guiterrez.

Serpicio Aguilera, member of the Mexican national congress from the central district of Coahuila, also arrived here today en route to Monclova, to join Governor Carranza. He declared that the constitutionalists had given their ultimatum to the Huerta government which was:

First—The immediate resignation of Huerta and his cabinet.

Second—The departure from the republic forthwith of General Huerta, General Felix Diaz, General Mondragon and General Blanquet.

C. R. CRANE TO BE NAMED AMBASSADOR TO RUSSIA?

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Charles R. Crane of Chicago, in all likelihood, soon will be nominated ambassador to Russia.

Developments indicated today that the plan which has just become known, to have Curtis Guild continue as ambassador at St. Petersburg until such time as Mr. Crane could arrange his business affairs in this country has been somewhat disarranged by the application of Mr. Guild for leave of absence.

Ambassador Guild notified Secretary Bryan that his health was poor and that it was imperative for him to have at least two months leave. It was granted, but Secretary Bryan states that he believed a successor would be chosen before the interval had elapsed.

Mr. Crane himself was at the White House today in conference with the president. Mr. Crane was appointed minister to China by President Taft, shortly after the beginning of his administration. When he reached San Francisco en route to the orient he was recalled because of his alleged statements on foreign policy.

Effect on European Capital In- vested Is Now Issue Being Discussed

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 16.—Not the exclusion of the Japanese tariff, but the probable effect of the proposed alien land law on European capital invested in the state, is now the principal issue involved in discussion of the bills proposing to restrict the rights of foreigners in California, one of which was passed yesterday by the assembly.

Protest has arisen from representatives of the English and continental syndicates and a stronger influence than that represented by the formal complaints of the Japanese government is being brought to bear in an effort to kill the measure altogether, or to amend it in such a way as to affect only the Japanese.

The assembly bill permits corporations controlled by persons eligible to citizenship to own property, but the senate bill makes no distinction, which is in line with the sentiment heretofore existing against giving offense to Japan by discriminating in favor of the subjects of any other country. The senate bill classifies all foreign syndicates and corporations as alien and it is admitted that if the wording of the act is retained, it will be impossible to exempt European capitalists.

Many Protests Entered.

Within the last 24 hours scores of letters and telegrams have been received and a dozen attorneys and capitalists have made their appearance, all protesting against a law that would be tantamount to the present or future investment of the banking syndicates of London, Paris and Berlin. It is pointed out that the stocks of many of the large corporations of California are dealt in on the exchanges of European

STATE LEGISLATURE ENDS LONG SESSION

DENVER, April 16.—At 9 o'clock this morning the Nineteenth general assembly of Colorado came to a close. After the hour chosen for adjournment the long session was occasioned by the differences of opinion which arose in conference committees on the appropriation bills and the salary bill.

At 2:45 o'clock this morning the conference committees adjusted differences and at 4:45 the house and senate approved the report.

Sensors and representatives rested today and tonight are leaving for their homes throughout the state.

Among the bills passed by both houses of the legislature, but not yet signed by the governor, was a bill to place the assessable valuation of mines at 50 per cent of their gross output and 25 per cent of the net output.

PROGRESSIVES MEET AT COURT HOUSE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, April 16.—Track team representatives of Harvard and Yale at a meeting held here tonight decided to extend an invitation to Oxford and Cambridge universities to compete here this summer.

The El Paso County Progressive club will meet in the district court room this evening at 8 o'clock.

R. M. McClintock will be one of the speakers and will give the history of Progressive legislation in the Colorado assembly, which adjourned yesterday morning. Mr. McClintock has been in daily attendance at the Nineteenth assembly, and knows much of interest concerning its workings.

Progressive members of the legislature who have returned from Denver also will speak tonight. The meeting is open to the public, and everyone is invited to attend.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HAS NO ADVICE FOR TRUSTS

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Attorney General McReynolds declines to be counsel for the "trusts" of the United States. As the chief legal officer of the federal government he is receiving scores of requests for advice as to whether certain lines of action by combinations of capital will violate the Sherman law or some antitrust decree under it. He has steadfastly refused to commit the department of justice to interpretations of the law, because such a course, requiring comprehensive investigations and study, would virtually make the department of justice, he thinks, the legal advisory adjunct of commercial interests.

Among many others, this attitude was made known to W. P. G. Harding of Birmingham, Ala., who introduced to the attorney general by Senator Hanks, asked if the government would object to the American Wire company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, completing its proposed steel plant at Corey, Ala., work on which was stopped some time ago. The attorney general would not indicate whether the government would regard this as an improper move in view of the pending suit against the so-called Steel trust.

POPE'S CONDITION SLIGHTLY BETTER

LATE BULLETINS LAST NIGHT OPTIMISTIC

Pontiff Able to Retain Food and Temperature Is About Normal

ROME, April 16.—The bulletins issued by the physicians today indicated that the condition of the pope was slightly better. The evening bulletin was of a more optimistic tone as it indicated that the temperature was normal and that there had been no recurrence of the usual night fever.

The fact, however, that the bronchial affection has not been overcome, detracts somewhat from the hopeful character of the report as the occasional attacks of coughing are taxing the strength of the patient, who already has been under a great strain.

The condition of the pope has been reported and to believe the kidneys appeared and to believe the kidneys appeared and to believe the kidneys appeared.

Dr. Andrea Ajmici paid a visit to the Vatican at 11 o'clock tonight and, according to his announcement, found only a slight elevation in the temperature and other conditions satisfactory. He reported to Cardinal Merry del Val, who personally watches at the pope's bedside most of the day and during the early hours of the night, and later telephoned his observations to Professor Marchisiani, who has been connected with the Vatican a special wire in order to prevent indiscretions.

Able to Retain Food.

Further improvement in the pope's condition was shown by the fact that he was able to retain a quantity of chicken jelly and that he slept peacefully for a considerable time. Early in the evening he acknowledged that he was feeling the benefit of the anesthetic rest imposed upon him and that he felt more inclined to sleep naturally than at any time since his illness.

The pope is extremely concerned at the trouble he gives to those around him, often expressing to them his deep gratitude, especially those who assist him at night repeatedly urging them to go to bed, and some times his statements are so marked that in order to satisfy him they leave the room.

All his life the pope has been a great lover of music. The composer, Mr. Lorenzo Perosi, owes him much, and the pope aided him to attain success. The two were great friends and when the pontiff was patriarch of Venice.

Once raised to the pontifical chair, he did not forget the young composer, whom he took to Rome with him and allowed him, contrary to the tradition of the papacy, to share his meals. With the aid of Perosi he accomplished those reforms in church music which were among the first manifestations of his papal activity and restored the Gregorian chant to its original character and place in the church.

His love for music seems to have been made acute by his illness, the pontiff often asking for music, hymns and chants which seemed to soothe his restlessness and pain. And during the most trying period of his sickness he lay listening to the tones of a small organ in the adjoining chapel. It seemed somewhat incongruous, this sound of music from the room next that in which the august patient suffered.

capitals and that at a particular time a majority of such stock might be owned by persons not citizens of the United States. Under the senate bill the property owned by such corporations would be subject to escheat to the state after one year.

Senator Thompson, author of the senate bill, is convinced that international complications can be prevented only by enacting an impartial law, restricting all alien allies, and for this reason he is opposed to the assembly bill. That bill, he said, differed from the senate measure prepared by his committee only in the clause relating to corporations and he believed the senate measure was the more restrictive on Japanese since it provided that a majority of the stock of any corporation owning California land must be held by American citizens or those who have declared their intention of becoming citizens.

Says Citizenship Denied

Senator Thompson found upon investigation today that the eligibility of Japanese to citizenship in the United States had never been carried to the supreme court. In two United States circuit decisions, the first in 1892, and the second eight years later, the rights of Japanese subjects to citizenship are denied on grounds of race.

Both the senate and assembly bills are awaiting action in the upper house and will not be brought to a vote until the question of amending them is settled in conference.

Tokio Is Divided on Land Bill Question

TOKIO, April 16.—The most prominent officials, commercial men and others are urging that no extreme attitude be adopted in the agitation against the California alien land bill, but popular feeling is deepening with the announcement of the passage of the bill in the lower house of the California legislature.

The American-Japanese association, of which Baron Shibusawa is president, and B. Nakano is vice president, composed of representatives of all political parties, leading tradesmen and professional men is actively endeavoring to defeat the bill but carefully avoiding stirring up anti-American feeling.

Special speakers in explaining the American system of state rights, say that the United States as a whole is friendly, but California is prejudiced. Tokio Ozaki, ex-ambassador to Tokyo, advocates the withdrawal of Japanese participation in the Panama-Pacific exposition and with refusing to buy or sell through California ports. But this has been strongly opposed by other speakers. Newspaper men have formed an organization and adopted a resolution declaring that the land bill not only is unjust and unfair to the Japanese, but is calculated to impair good will. The American press is requested to join in opposing it.

PRESIDENT REMOVES PROF. WILLIS MOORE

Chief of Weather Bureau for 20 Years Summarily Dismissed

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau since 1893, and an appointee of the Cleveland administration, was summarily removed from office today by President Wilson.

The resignation of Moore, which had been accepted to take effect July 31, but, after an investigation of his alleged efforts to become secretary of agriculture in the present cabinet, was changed to immediate removal, and the president with drew his acceptance of the resignation, dismissing Professor Moore. Later he referred the subject to the department of justice for inquiry.

Secretary Houston of the agricultural department conferred with the president before the removal of Mr. Moore was announced. The secretary then issued the following statement:

"Immediately after the resignation of Professor Moore was submitted to the president, and accepted by him, charges were filed with the secretary of agriculture by responsible men within the service. These charges were of so grave a nature that the secretary of agriculture called upon the department of justice for an investigation.

"The investigation still is in progress, but the facts so far gathered and laid before the president yesterday were sufficient to warrant him in deciding to withdraw his acceptance of Professor Moore's resignation and remove him summarily, which has been done today. The president also has directed the secretary of agriculture to suspend Charles T. Burns, an employee of the weather bureau, pending a further investigation of his case, and take such disciplinary measures as he may deem necessary with such other employees of the weather bureau as may have been found guilty of authorizing the public service for private ends."

Charges Misuse of Powers

The letter to Secretary Houston directing Mr. Moore's removal was not made public, but it was stated at the White house to charge such irregularities and misuse of powers as to require the immediate dismissal of the weather bureau chief in the interest of the public service.

Unofficially it was said at the White house that the campaign to make Mr. Moore secretary of agriculture has been extensive; that members of congress in various parts of the country had been canvassed, and that a letter-writing campaign had been conducted among weather bureau employees.

Professor Moore has been a target for attack in congress. A formal resolution was introduced calling on the secretary of agriculture to advise congress regarding the appropriations for official traveling expenses of the weather bureau, what amount of the lump sum of salaries in the weather bureau was expended for promotions of weather bureau employees last January and February, and the comparative figures for the preceding four years.

The resolution asked for information as to what journals were performed by Charles L. Burns, under official orders, and under what instructions, between July 1, 1912, and February 28, 1913, and also called for data regarding circulars and other matter printed at government expense and "used by the chief of the weather bureau in his campaign for secretary of agriculture during the last fiscal year."

Investigation to Be Thorough

The house committee on expenditures in the agricultural department had planned to hear an exhaustive investigation into the weather bureau, but was prevented from making it on account of the Wiley inquiry, the Florida everglades case and other special matters. Representative Moss of Indiana, and Democratic members of the committee, did take up special charges filed against Professor Moore by James Hertz, a former employee of the weather bureau, which related to misuse of the contingent fund. "The new minute," Mr. Moss said today, "never mind these charges to press forward for further inquiry. It is proposed, however, to conduct a thorough investigation of the bureau as soon as the commission is organized, which probably will not be until the regular session next winter."

Professor Moore issued a statement tonight declaring that the same influences that attempted to "disgrace and remove Dr. Harvey W. Wiley," were responsible for his removal and branding as "infamously false" any intimation that he had accepted employment in the weather bureau in supporting him for the secretaryship of agriculture, and that public money had been expended in his candidacy. His statement follows:

"I am in receipt of a letter from the president of the United States saying that my conduct of business of the weather bureau discloses such irregularities on my part that the interests of the public service demand my immediate removal.

"Same Old Influence, Says Moore.

"In reply, I will say that it is the same old influence that attempted to disgrace and remove Dr. Harvey W. Wiley without letting him see the charges against him or confront his accusers that is now driving me from the public service.

"As an aspirant for the secretaryship of agriculture I announced that I would, if appointed, revoke the benediction of soda decision, abolish the Remsen board, or any other extra judicial body in the department that I thought had been designed for the purpose of minimizing the effectiveness of the pure food and meat inspection laws rather than in aiding their enforcement, and that I would restrain the activities of the collector's office to reasonable prerogatives and reorganize the department.

"I was not selected and, of course, have no complaint on that ground. But Secretary Houston almost immediately upon entering office demanding that I forward to the president by resignation without ever having set foot in the office of the weather bureau, without honoring my request to see such charges as might have been filed against me or permit me to face my accusers or to be present in person or by proxy and examine the witnesses

FLOOD THREATENS TOWNS ALONG MISSISSIPPI BANKS

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 16.—Levee conditions in the vicinity of Beulah, Miss., were critical tonight, while from Modoc, Ark., where the embankments showed signs of weakening today under the Mississippi flood, more encouraging reports were received. Dispatches from other points tell of levees holding well.

Near Beulah "bolls" developed at half a dozen points along a 400-yard stretch north of the town. Laborers, fearful that the levee will collapse, seem little disposed to continue the fight at several places and farmers are hurriedly moving their stock and goods to higher ground.

When the summer of 1912 was over, all the levee methods were applied to my friends in the weather bureau under such penalties that they did not dare speak to me and then report made to the president that had for its object driving me in disgrace from a service where I had had an honorable career for over a third of a century.

"I do not believe that the great commercial, agricultural, marine, educational and labor organizations that have known me for nearly 20 years as the chief of the weather bureau and who largely indorsed me for a cabinet place, will be satisfied that I have done anything dishonorable until the light of publicity is let in and Secretary Houston's Russian-Siberian methods give way to American fair play.

Declares Charges False

"I brand as infamously false the intimation that any man in the weather bureau has been coerced into supporting me for the secretaryship; any man promoted for serving me, or a dollar of public money expended in my candidacy. I worked for the place and spent my own money and so did many of my friends. Is this a crime under the new dispensation of things?

"I shall welcome gladly any investigation to which the press is admitted, and why limit the inquiry to the weather bureau? It always has had a clean bill of health from every investigating committee that has looked into its affairs, which is something which cannot be said of several of the bureaus to which Secretary Houston's methods have not been applied."

NO NEW CLEW IN MYSTERY SURROUNDING J. W. MARTIN

LONDON, April 16.—No progress is being made in the investigation into the disappearance of Joseph W. Martin of Memphis, Tenn., and the ceaseless efforts of the police have failed to throw the slightest light on the case.

It is realized that little can be done until Martin's financial position and his social relations are cleared up, and the investigation now is taking this direction.

One of the most perplexing aspects of the mystery is the failure to obtain the slightest clue to the identity of the taxicab driver who is supposed to have driven Martin from the Royal Automobile club on the night of April 3.

Inspector Ward examined Martin's baggage this afternoon, but discovered nothing to throw light on his disappearance. Among the papers was a draft of a prospectus of an Arkansas and company, which Martin was floating here. There was nothing, however, to show that any money has passed in this connection.

Inspector Ward expects to obtain a court order, permitting the examination of Martin's safe deposit vault tomorrow morning.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 16.—N. Hill Martin, intercepted in New York by a telegram as he was about to sail to London, to aid in the search for his missing brother, Joseph W. Martin, the missing Memphis cotton man, is on his way back to Memphis to aid in straightening out the affairs of the Martin-Phillips company. This statement was made today by Fontaine Martin, another brother. The company now is in the hands of a receiver.

Members of the Martin family, one of the most prominent in this section of the south, are firm in the belief that Joseph W. Martin has been killed or is held a prisoner.

It was stated positively that Martin has successfully closed a deal in London and is expected to wire to his firm about $100,000 to meet certain obligations about to fall due. This cablegram and another stating the time of his expected departure from London was the last heard from the missing man, it was declared.

TWO MORE VICTIMS FALL BEFORE BAD MAN'S GUN

SEATTLE, Wash., April 16.—Charles Lathrop and Louis Blair, trappers, were shot and killed today by Tormow, a bandit for whom they were in search with a deputy sheriff. The deputy fled for his life. Tormow has been hiding in the forest near Shelton for nearly a year.

The searchers came upon the outlaw unexpectedly. The deputy opened fire after his companions had fallen, but missed Tormow and fled.

The shooting of the two trappers brings the number of deaths charged against the outlaw up to six.

John Tormow is wanted in Montana for the murder of his twin nephews, John and Will Bauer, in 1911. Deputy Sheriff Collin McKenzie and A. V. Elmore lost their lives in pursuit of him a year ago.

The scene of the shooting today is 30 miles from Shelton and in the wildest section of the state. The sheriff and a posse will go after Tormow tomorrow.

Smart Set Attends Trial of Physician

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 16.—A closely packed gathering of fashionable men and women occupied the court room today when the state began to introduce testimony in the case against Dr. Arthur B. Smith, on trial for the murder of his young wife.

In his opening remarks to the jury, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Laybourne announced that the state would show that the dead wife had been killed by a hypodermic injection at the hands of the defendant.

Dr. C. L. Hamner and Dr. B. D. Tidlow both testified that the prisoner had asked them concerning an alleged attack of heart trouble from which his wife was suffering.

Dr. M. O. Marquard testified that he had examined Florence Smith before her death, and had found traces of heart trouble. He also said that he had signed her death certificate, giving "incurable" as the contributory cause of death.

Omitted Polka Dots in Gov. Hadley's Tie; Artist Can't Collect

CHICAGO, April 16.—That Former Governor H. S. Hadley of Missouri, was so particular about the color of the necktie that was to be painted upon a portrait of him as to harm the artistic value of the finished painting, was set forth in a deposition filed in the circuit court here today on behalf of Samantha L. Huntley, a portrait painter of New York. Miss Huntley is suing Charles A. Huntley of St. Louis, chairman of a committee which raised $2,600 for a portrait of Hadley.

Miss Huntley avers the $2,600 is due her, although the committee refused to accept the work. She sets forth her difficulties in executing her task, saying that Governor Hadley was almost "impossible" as a subject. She offered in evidence letters telling that her subject appeared at one sitting wearing a green tie but insisted that it appear in the portrait as blue with white polka dots to conform with the tie Roosevelt wore when one of his portraits was painted. She said she made the tie blue, but left out the dots.

William Foulkes, blacksmith, 235 S. Cascade Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "Off and on for five years I suffered from disordered kidneys. I had distressing headaches, was nervous and had to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions. I noticed that the secretions were filled with sediment and I was pained in passage. My back was severely, especially if I took cold or exerted myself. Sometimes my right kidney swelled so badly that there was a lump over it, as large as one's fist. Working in a cramped position so much brought a strain on my back and made my trouble worse. Colds always made my trouble worse. Doan's Kidney Pills helped me as soon as I used them and I now feel like a different person." (Statement given February 25, 1908.)

Cops Hang Together in Probe of Conduct at Women's Parade

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Police captains who commanded detachments on Pennsylvania avenue March 3, at the time of the suffragette parade, rallied to the defense of their department today when the senate subcommittee resumed hearing of the charges of police neglect and inefficiency made by the women marchers.

Six captains, a lieutenant and two sergeants told practically the same story. In their opinion, Major Richard Sylvester, their chief, did everything possible to preserve order and protect the marchers and the officers and men under him did their best to carry out his instructions. The captains declared that they had been permitted to do a street car traffic two hours sooner than they did, they would have had little trouble controlling the crowds and protecting the parade. Several officers said that there were not enough regular policemen to handle the crowds and added that the hundreds of "specials" sworn in for duty that day practically were useless because of lack of training and discipline and the fact that they were not in uniform.

Captain Daly, who commanded a section of the avenue near Seventh street where the trouble started, suggested that he might have handled the crowd better if some of the mounted police detailed to escort President Wilson from the union station to his hotel had been detailed instead along Pennsylvania avenue.

Dr. A. M. Zinkhan, an interne from the emergency hospital, told of being stopped on the avenue while making a run back to the hospital by a man who stepped out of the line of march and waved a cane in his driver's face. He said he learned the next day that it was Senator Poindexter.

The committee expects to hear several officers tomorrow and probably will end the hearing Friday.

Wilson Consulted on Alien Land Bill

WASHINGTON, April 16.—President Wilson conferred with Secretary Lane of the interior department today the situation that has arisen in the latter's native state, California, with regard to the ownership of land by aliens.

The president and Mr. Lane studied the two bills now pending before the California legislature. No comment was forthcoming from the White House, but it is believed that the measure eventually passed will not differ from alien land laws already in effect in the District of Columbia and territories of the Union. For this reason there is little hope entertained in official circles here that the popular feeling in Japan will be allayed, though it confidently is expected that the Japanese government will understand the difficulties of the situation for the federal government and that its basis of protest will be removed by the final construction of the bills.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 16.—The legislature marked time today on the anti-alien land ownership legislation, the senate bill being at the bottom of the upper house file and not to be reached today unless very late. The bill passed yesterday by the lower house was sent today to the senate committee on judiciary.

Senator Birdsell, one of the sponsors for the senate bill, said today: "Personally I am for any alien land ownership bill that will keep out the Japanese, and if we can save time by putting through the assembly bill I will advocate that course. There is no radical difference in the two bills except in the corporation ownership clause. I understand."

Skeleton in Canon Explains Mystery

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 16.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance November 14, 1911, of Margaret Greb, an 18-year-old girl of this city, was explained today by the finding of a skeleton in Los Huertas canon in the Sandia mountains, 30 miles from here.

Identification was made complete by heavy gold fillings in the teeth and a ring which the girl wore at the time of her disappearance.

The supposition is that the girl wandered away in a fit of despondency, became lost in the mountains and exposed to death. The skeleton was found by a sheep herder in an almost inaccessible portion of the canon.

GRAND JURY

pression of Judge W. P. Kinney of the county court.

Dist. Attorney Purcell expressed his opinion that the jury will work quickly but carefully and absolutely without fear. He said that he has never seen a better jury and that Sheriff Birdsell is to be congratulated on the selection of such able and intelligent men.

The duties and powers of the jury were outlined by Judge Morris in his formal charge. At least nine of the 12 members of the grand jury must assent to the finding of every true bill.

"It will be your duty," said the court, "not to consider mere rumor, but all matters for your consideration should be presented to you by the evidence of witnesses properly and duly sworn and given evidence in your presence as grand jurors."

"You may in every case find an indictment on the oath of one witness only or upon the information of two of your body, except in cases of perjury in which the evidence of at least two witnesses to the same fact will be necessary."

As to Special Prosecutor.

With reference to appointment of a special prosecutor asked by the county commissioners, the court said:

"It may be that you have heard the suggestion that the court ought to appoint a special prosecutor during the work of this grand jury; but such an appointment should be made by the court only when circumstances arise to justify the same. It facts exist that would justify the appointment of a special prosecutor and a special officer to serve process, or either, the court at this time has no knowledge of such facts. It, however, in the course of your investigation you should become aware of facts that in your judgment involve the integrity of the district attorney's office or the integrity of the sheriff's office of this county you should report the matter to the court at once, and the court will then make such order and appointment or appointments as will enable you to proceed with your investigations without embarrassment."

The law of this state, the court explained, provides that the office of the county treasurer must be investigated whenever a grand jury is called. The court appointed E. M. De La Vergne and Bert S. Kaufman a committee to make the examination. H. H. Mitchell, an expert accountant, is to assist them.

STRIKING ROPE MAKERS WILL RETURN TO WORK

AUBURN, N. Y., April 15.—The largest strike in the history of Auburn was settled tonight when the workers in various departments of the Columbian Rope company, employing 1,100 operatives, voted unanimously to return to work on terms submitted by the company, following a joint conference this afternoon. Charles A. Miles, organizer of the American Federation of Labor, gave out a statement, saying:

"The chief features of the settlement are the recognition of the union, the establishment of a minimum wage and the reinstatement of discharged employees."

There is rejoicing throughout the city over the settlement of the Columbian Rope company strike, and all citizens are turning to the International Harvester company to prevent the removal of the twin mill of that company to Germany.

Governor Sulzer has intervened to secure the retention of the industry here, and developments today indicated that this may be possible, as the local officers of the company received orders from Chicago to "hold all cars."

257,000 MEN GO OUT IN SUFFRAGE STRIKE

Manhood Suffrage Demanded and Abolition of Plural System

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 16.—A statement issued by the ministry of the interior this morning admits that 257,000 men have joined the national political strike of the Belgian workers who have chosen this means of forcing the grant of manhood suffrage, and the abolition of the system by which wealthy citizens are given plural voting power.

The Socialist leaders today claimed that the total number of strikers is over 400,000. It is stated that the Belgian government finds itself with a very small supply of coal to run the state railroads. This supply is likely to be exhausted by the end of the week, thus crippling transport facilities. Lack of fuel will also cause the stoppage of many electric and gas plants and prevent many thousand nonstrikers from working.

Emile Vandervelde, the Socialist leader, today completed a tour of the provinces of Hainaut and Namur. He summed up his observations as follows:

"All business is stagnated throughout the industrial district. Of the 268,000 workmen in the two provinces 163,000 are striking."

From various parts of the country reports show that in some places the movement has been very successful, while in others, more especially districts under the control of the Catholic unions, the men are lukewarm.

Violence has been exceptional, since the order to quit work was given on Monday, only a few cases of destruction of property or interference with nonstrikers having occurred.

Belgium Not Ready to Grant Strikers' Demand

BRUSSELS, April 16.—At a time when 300,000 men are out on strike, was a phrase which occurred in the premier's speech before the chamber of deputies this afternoon. He was replying to an attack on the government by Herr Vandervelde, the Socialist leader, who declared that 370,000 men were involved in the general strike in Belgium for manhood suffrage.

The premier's remark seemed to be made off hand, and his estimate cannot be regarded as official. There is no doubt, however, that the government is beginning to realize that it underestimated the possibilities of the movement, which grew steadily today.

The Central Industrial commission of Brussels, a nonpolitical organization, estimates that 217,000 workmen engaged in five industries—coal mining, metal manufactures, structural iron, work glass and textiles—have laid down their tools.

When the chamber reconvened today after recess the galleries were crowded, and 10,000 strikers assembled outside the building, but took part in no demonstrations.

The premier, in answer to the Socialist and Liberal attacks, reiterated that the government could not yield to threats. When a Liberal deputy proposed a national referendum on constitutional revision, the premier said: "When quiet is restored the government will be at your disposal to study out the question."

The strikers continue to maintain perfect discipline in Brussels. Six hundred paraded through the streets tonight without police interference. Gendarmes are keeping a close watch in the suburbs. It having been reported that the strikers have purchased wire snippers and rubber gloves.

MONS, Belgium, April 16.—All the industries in this region are at a standstill. Soup kitchens have been opened but as yet are not being operated. Police and troops are patrolling the district. Large consignments of English and German coal are arriving.

ANTWERP, April 16.—The men employed as coal unloaders in the central basin went on strike today. The burgomaster says work at the port will be at a complete standstill in a few days for lack of freights. The arrivals of cereals, timber and similar cargoes at the railroad freight depot rapidly are growing scarcer. A band of women gathered in front of the Socialist cooperative storehouse this morning, protesting vigorously against work being performed there during the strike. The police dispersed them. The strikers at Hoboken were augmented by 1,000 men today.

REV. DUFFY NOW BISHOP OF NEBRASKA DIOCESE

CHEYENNE, Wyo., April 16.—The Rev. James A. Duffy, rector of St. Mary's cathedral here since 1904, was today consecrated bishop of the newly created Catholic diocese at Kearney, Neb. The ceremony took place in St. Mary's cathedral in the presence of an imposing assemblage of Catholic clergy. Archbishop James J. Keane of Dubuque, Ia., celebrated pontifical high mass and the consecrator, Bishop McGovern of Cheyenne and Bishop Scannell of Omaha. Fifteen bishops and 50 priests were present. Bishop Duffy is 39 years old. His first appointment was as assistant in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Minneapolis.

Many Mothers Visit School

It used to be a red letter day in the little red school house when Mother visited the school, and teachers and pupils were nervous on the occasion of that all too seldom visitation.

Since the Parent-Teachers associations have begun their excellent work, however, it is no novelty for Mother to be in her place to see and hear what her children and those of her neighbors are doing, and where the pupils of the little red school house had only the three Rs and some other fundamentals to exhibit, Mother today is able to see the results of a much more varied program of education.

There were a good many mothers at the Steele school yesterday afternoon when the pupils of the school gave an exhibition of folk dancing and music and readings, and the work of the young people was received with a heartiest enthusiasm. Miss Hall, who has had much of the work in folk dancing in charge, explained that she considered the work valuable, only as it developed the play spirit, strengthened the muscles that do not ordinarily come into use on the playground, and taught the sense of rhythm, and certainly the pupils of all ages and sizes, who danced the quaint old dances yesterday had caught something of all three qualities.

The dances were the Dutch costume dance, the Italian dances "I See You" and "Italian Peasants," the "Wreath Dance" and "Danish Hornpipe," the "Chimes of Dunkirk" and "Children's Polka," and the "Ace of Diamonds." The dancers were all girls, not as the teachers explained, because the boys do not care for the work, but because there is not room enough for any larger groups of children in the limited space at the disposal of the dancers.

Mrs. Franklin E. Brooks, who presided over the meeting yesterday, expressed her wish that the school might soon have the auditorium it needs. There was music, piano and violin and vocal selections, by some of the pupils, and at the close of the program tea was served by the committee, which had the meeting in charge; and perhaps the opportunity the mothers had of becoming acquainted with other parents of the district was one of the most valuable results of the afternoon.

China Exhibit Attractive

Progress in ceramics is not made by any violent effort or post-impersonal steps, but by it is made, as those may see who go to the Antlers hotel to see the work of the pupils of Miss Ella Zimmerman, on exhibition in the sun parlor there. A decade ago we had chop plates and dinner plates that had roses and violets painted on them so realistically that to touch them with the tines of a fork or chop seemed a great profanation. Today we have table china done in conventional styles that are altogether attractive and appropriate.

There are a number of pupils represented in the exhibit, and the work is of uniform excellence. Some of the most attractive is the etched work which is most attractive for decorative pieces. For the most part the designs are made and executed by the pupils themselves, an innovation in the work of the studio, and one that will be of great benefit to the painters. Two dinner sets are exhibited, representing a great deal of work as well as decided good taste. And there is a fish set that is calculated to set one's mouth watering for the seashore and its delights so attractive is the arrangement of gray fishes on a gray background, with just a hint of sea green.

Some of those who have work on exhibition are Mrs. T. N. Chapman, Mrs. M. F. Meyer, Mrs. E. A. Footes, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. R. H. Wolfe, Mrs.

NIGHT GOWNS OF BATISTE.

This beautiful gown of batiste, lace and embroidery offers something new in lingerie designing; very simple is this but sufficiently removed from usual lines to merit attention. A flat bertha outlines a square vest or yoke consisting of alternate strips of fine embroidery and "Val" lace headed by an inch-wide ribbon-run heading of embroidery. The bertha is finished by a narrow band of "Val" insertion and ruffle of edging. The little short sleeves are finished in the same manner. The gown itself follows the present fashionable trend, being cut quite narrow and being only slightly flared into the upper portion.

Columbia Day at Moving Picture House Friday

Pupils and teachers of the Columbia school are looking forward with pleasure to the time when they will give their own kinetoscope, which will probably be with the beginning of the next school year. At any rate, both pupils and parents and teachers are working together for the necessary funds, and the prospect is that the money will be well in hand by the end of the term in June.

One of the plans for augmenting the fund is to be carried out tomorrow. The management of the Princess theater has offered part of the proceeds for the shows at that house Friday, both afternoon and evening, to the Columbia school, and the young people are working in order that the attendance, and the proceeds as well, may be as large as possible. An especially interesting program, one that will also be highly instructive, has been prepared, and those who go will be well repaid, aside from any help they will give the school.

When the school has purchased the moving picture machine, they will be prepared, as other progressive schools are prepared, to relieve some studies of their tedium, while the pupils gain infinitely in understanding.

CLEANS THE HAIR AND MAKES IT LOOK BEAUTIFUL AT ONCE--25 CENT "DANDERINE"

In a Few Moments Your Hair Looks Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant No Falling Hair or Dandruff

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt, or any excessive oil—in a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of "Danderine" dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and moisturizes the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly, long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of "Danderine" and use it as directed.

THE Great Western Sugar Company announces that it will immediately begin spending one million dollars enlarging its nine sugar factories, seven of which are in Colorado. The officers declare that although their future prosperity depends much upon the pending revision of the tariff, the plants will be enlarged just the same regardless of what Congress may do. This information throws an interesting sidelight on the contention that the beet sugar industry cannot live without a high protective tariff. Throughout the campaign last fall there was a great deal of this sort of talk, obviously intended for the political benefit of some candidates and the injury of others. But when on the eve of tariff revision, a concern operating nine big factories makes such an announcement as this it is highly significant.

The truth is that nine-tenths of the people who write and talk about the sugar schedule, and at least an equal proportion of the congressmen who legislate on it, really know almost nothing about it. And they never will know until the subject is removed from the domain of politics and treated purely as an economic matter. When that is done a real investigation will be made into all conditions governing the industry, and we shall know just how much protection, if any, it deserves. About all that is known now is that the Sugar Trust earns enormous dividends while the people pay more for sugar than it is reasonable to believe they should.

THE CHEYENNE AVENUE QUESTION

THE vote on the proposal to close Cheyenne Avenue to vehicles leaves no doubt as to the state of public opinion on this question, whatever one may think of its wisdom. The vote was 5,604 to 1,552, or nearly four to one in favor of closing. In our opinion there were several excellent arguments and at least one very foolish contention on each side of the question. It is true that the architects can make the grounds more attractive if vehicles are excluded, and it is possible that they can better utilize the space in placing the buildings. But it was absurd to contend that vehicles should be kept out to protect the pupils from being run over while crossing from one building to another. The thought of a husky football squad or a crowd of nearly grown girls being in danger from the traffic on Cheyenne Avenue, after having safely threaded innumerable other streets on their way to school, is one that only excites mirth.

On the other side of the question, the best argument advanced was that having employed a competent expert to devise a plan of city improvements, we ought to adhere to that plan rigidly. And Mr. Robinson strongly opposed closing Cheyenne Avenue. But the opponents of closing added nothing to the weight of their contention when they published a circular declaring that in twenty years the High school plant would be outgrown and would be sold to private parties who probably would establish a boarding house district there. At the present rate of growth in school attendance the new plant doubtless will have been outgrown in twenty years; but this does not mean that it will be torn down and the site sold. Another high school will be built elsewhere to take care of the overflow, and the old plant will be operated as usual.

It is well that the question is settled at last, for it has already delayed the beginning of work on new buildings which are urgently needed. And the majority by which the proposal to close the avenue was carried leaves no doubt that the people want it settled in that way, and in no other.

NAVAL INCREASE

SINCE the new administration came into power both President Wilson and Secretary of the Navy Daniels have publicly declared themselves in favor of the policy of naval expansion. A few days ago the Assistant Secretary, Franklin D.

Roosevelt, made a speech before the annual convention of the Navy League in Washington in which he argued for a bigger fleet. So it is apparent that insofar as the influence of the administration goes there is to be no let-up in the effort to restore the United States to its former place as the second naval power, which was recently lost to Germany.

Inadequate as the navy is declared to be by experts, it nevertheless has had a remarkable growth since the Spanish war gave it a new impetus. When that contest was fought the United States had only five battleships and a few cruisers and monitors which were out of date even then. Now we have thirty-one battleships, the smallest of which are twice as big and three times as costly as any of the vessels which fought at Santiago Bay. Six more are under construction, all of them super-dreadnoughts of 27,500 tons displacement. Contrast this with the old Oregon, whose remarkable trip around South America in 1898 convinced the country of the necessity of a canal at Panama. The Oregon was considered a veritable leviathan of the deep in her time, but she displaces only 10,000 tons, which means that she is a trifle more than one-third the size of the new Texas and Nevada.

But the important point is that while our navy has grown rapidly in the last fifteen years, the other nations have increased their fleets even more rapidly. Great Britain, of course, always has been and always will be the foremost naval power. But when the Spanish war was fought France stood second, the United States third and Germany fourth. Then the United States climbed to second place with Germany third, but now Germany has taken second place. And it will not be long until France will again be ahead of this country and crowd it back to fourth place.

The cost of naval efficiency is so prodigious and its seeming benefits so slight that it is always easy for the opponents of a big navy in Congress to check the plans of the Department for unquestionably public opinion is against any considerable increase in the expenditures. But to offset this is the ever-present possibility of war. True, it is merely a possibility and not a probability, but experience has shown that when war does come the penalty for unpreparedness is many times greater than the cost of maintaining a navy at a high degree of efficiency.

THE Y. W. C. A. AND ITS BUILDING

THE gradual rising of a handsome and costly building at the corner of Nevada Avenue and Kiowa Street is a reminder that the Young Women's Christian Association has come to be an influence of great importance in Colorado Springs. Otherwise it could not have obtained the money to buy the site and put up a five-story building, nor would it have the membership capable of utilizing such a building.

The work of this organization during the last year is told in the annual report, which has been published in pamphlet form with illustrations. People who care to see what enthusiasm and hard work can accomplish in advancing a good cause will find it of interest.

THE SOCIALIST DEBATE

To the Editor of The Gazette:
In the four-cornered debate which took place last Sunday night between two Socialists and two Progressives, the subject debated was "Resolved, That Socialism is the only solution of our present day economic troubles." The second speaker for the negative side, a great length on the enormity of the socialist proposition, which he alleged was to confiscate the means of production and distribution for the people. For this gentleman's information, I wish to state that the Socialist party has not as yet offered any definite plan as a means of socializing the industries. There are four possible methods, namely: confiscation, competition, purchase and pension, but which of these methods will be resorted to is purely a matter for speculation.

But even if it were the intention of Socialists to confiscate the industries for the people, when they got into power, would not this course be quite justifiable? Many of the great public service utilities are returning annually, and in some cases semi-annually to their owners dividends equal in value to the original investment. Ye gods! Does not the people paid enough already? Then consider the great tracts of land granted by the government to the railroad companies in the first place, an area larger in extent than the country of Germany, to say nothing of the fact that these companies have bled the people since. Why? It would be a case of restitution, not confiscation. Suppose confiscation of the means of production and distribution would inconvenience a small section of the community, if it were clearly proven that it would benefit the great majority, should it not be the duty of the state to serve the greater number?

SCHOOL GARDENS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
This is not a new idea, as it is being successfully carried out in a number of cities in the United States, and very extensively in some European countries. It is surprising that this very important subject has not been thought of or put to practical use in our beautiful city of Colorado Springs long ago.

The mothers' clubs of the public schools, the school board, and other organizations, all working for the improvement of our school system and welfare of our city, I believe will be quick to recognize this as an important feature in our schools.

There are a great many advantages to be obtained by these school gardens, if adopted by our city. A few of the benefits derived, would be:—healthful outdoor work, beautifying some of our unsightly vacant lots, advertising our city, creating a desire to see things grow. Also, a desire for our children to become producers, instead of wanting to live in the city, which has a direct and indirect bearing on our present day high cost of living.

Just think what a beautiful sight it would be to have our vacant lots, especially those along the car lines, put to this use, where they could be seen by the thousands of visitors and tourists every summer. Our city already bears the distinction of being one of the most beautiful in the United States, and a very desirable place to live; so let us add another big attraction to our already famous city. The cost would be comparatively nothing to the great advantage to be obtained. There are a number of ways by which the products raised could be disposed of, but this need not be discussed until these gardens are adopted.

As the space in this column is limited, I will not go into details, but I have written a lengthy article on this interesting subject with plans and details, and will be pleased to take it up with those interested in such a scheme. Would also like to hear from others? It is not too late to give it a trial this season, on a small scale, and if successful, can be conducted by all the schools as soon as it is found practical. I refuse to believe that it is not practical until it is given a thorough experiment.

TO BE JOBLESS AFTER AWHILE.

From the Kansas City Times.
Would any worth while man—except possibly, a very young man—take a business job with the understanding that in a little while the job will be taken away from him? Of course, practically every man understands that he may lose his position. But that is a possibility that he tries to guard against. He takes up his work with the purpose of sticking to it and getting security of employment by deserving it.

Yet many men are trying to get political jobs by political pull. They ought to be saved from their own foolishness, by an extension of the merit system to every place they are after.

"TO PROMOTE THE GENERAL WELFARE."

From the Kansas City Times.
The movement now in progress to penalize by law dishonest advertising is another striking indication of the way organized society is beginning to use the government as its agency for the general welfare.

"Get the buyer beware," was long the classic motto of trade. The buyer was thought to be in a better position to protect his own interests than any outside agency could possibly be. And in an age of small business he was. He had facilities for knowing the quality of the goods he was getting. Most of them came from his immediate neighborhood, and he knew the reputation of the producer.

His meat was slaughtered by a local butcher. His milk came from a neighbor's dairy. The local store was a neighborhood institution, and it was well known if the owner was in the habit of mixing sand in the sugar.

But with the advent of the era of big business the average person has become helpless. His milk may come from the country 50 miles away. The meat is from a packing house. The big store is not the family institution of 50 years ago.

So all along the line society has begun to exercise supervision to see that the buyer is not cheated. The national pure food and drugs act embodied the tendency. Representative Murdoch has been pushing a pure-fabric bill of the same sort. The honest advertising legislation belongs to the same species of social action for the common good.

People are finding out that government may be made much more useful than it has been in the past without interfering in the slightest with individual initiative and energy.

What to Do When Tired

By RUTH CAMERON.
When you find yourself suddenly getting very tired long before the end of your day's journey, what do you generally do?
Do you simply endure it as best you can, dragging yourself wearily through the heat and burden of the day and until nightfall gives you the right to crawl into bed, too weary to sleep?
Or do you take yourself in hand and do what you can to make yourself more fit?
When I begin to find that I am tired, life is a burden feeling creeping over me, the first thing I do is to open all the windows and air out. I leave them open a few minutes; going into another room, if necessary. Before I close them I take a few simple deep-breathing exercises.
Try this the next time and see if it doesn't help.
Of course, if you can go out for a brief walk, that's better still. Walk five or ten minutes and then go in and talk to some cheerful neighbor a few minutes more. That will rest your mind, and you will find that mind rest communicates itself to the body. If you can't go out, try lying down and either relaxing or reading some amusing book, no matter if you can't spare more than 10 minutes. Every little helps a lot at times like these.
Ask yourself about the state of your stomach. It may be that you are hungry. Hunger and nervousness are twin sisters, and sometimes we don't know them apart. Again and again when I find myself growing tired and cross I discover that hunger is the real trouble, and that some hot milk will put me on my feet at once. Remember that hot foods are always more restful than cold.
On the other hand, your stomach may be overloaded. There is nothing makes one feel more lousy and sleepy than to have an overloaded alimentary canal. Weariness, the scientists tell us, is simply a kind of poison in the blood, and the alimentary canal steadily pours the most powerful poison into the blood when it is overloaded.
Again, your excessive weariness may be the sign of a cold, or infection as the doctors nowadays prefer to call it—and it may not be too late to forestall it.
Loosening one's clothes if one is in the habit of wearing tight things is always very restful. If you have been walking a good deal and your feet are very tired, take off your shoes and put on some slippers.
Sometimes soul rest as well as mind rest can be translated into body rest. I have a friend who always lies down and listens to one or two of her favorite pieces on her phonograph when she feels herself getting too tired. Myself, I have often found some help in looking up at a certain very restful picture which hangs on my living room wall.
But whatever you do, do something. Don't just submit to the torture of traveling the long days and with the horrible shackles of utter weariness fastened to your feet.

Reputations

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"
A reputation is a sort of a pure food label on a man's character. It consists of whatever he has persuaded other people to believe about him.

A reputation is about the most important part of a man's possessions, though he never owns it. If he has a good reputation he can run for justice of the peace on his record. If he has a bad reputation people count their spoons when he has left the house and look at him with suspicion whenever a crime has been committed in the county.

It takes a great many years to amass a good reputation. It can be done most easily by refusing to amass anything. Live clean, live honest, minutes to reduce a good reputation.

"Allow himself to be seen in the neighborhood of a saloon." A man hasn't time to do it himself, some hatched-faced peevish of rumors is always willing to do it for him. A man must devote his personal effort to building up a good reputation, but when he wants to get rid of it he has only to put a plug that over his ear and allow himself to be seen in the neighborhood of a saloon.

Good reputations are not confined to good men. This is a democratic country and anybody can acquire a good reputation if he will be patient enough. Goodness and good reputations have no more to do with each other than ham and hamster. Many a man with a magnificent, full-developed, Alabaster finished reputation is paying $1 a week in his factory week days, and fighting the spread of immorality on Sundays.

A good reputation is like a diamond. Any thief can get one and any honest man can lose one. After a man has spent a long life keeping his hands off of other people's property, and obeying not only the ten commandments, but a lot of home-made ones, a rumor, started by two idle women under the influence of tea, can swallow his reputation at one gulp.

Good reputations are fine things, but the government should appoint a commission to guard against misbranding human goods.

THE ORIGIN OF "TIP"

From the New York American.
There is not much doubt that tipping started in England, and the manner in which this custom came to be called by that name is very simple.

To make matters easier to judge the servants to do their very best and get to work as little as possible, one innkeeper put upon the plan of putting a little box in the main room of the inn with a card over it bearing the words, "To insure promptness."

Other innkeepers saw the advantage of this plan and so at one time there was scarcely a country inn throughout England that did not contain one of these boxes.

A guest would take some small change or get some gold coin changed, explaining that it was "T. I. P. money," and from calling it "T. I. P. money" it came to be called "tip money" or "tip," which was a much shorter way of saying "that it was money to put in the 'to insure promptness' box."

Several Women Sheriffs.
A woman of many responsibilities is Miss Rose Moriarty of Elkhart, Ohio, who holds the offices of Deputy City Auditor, Deputy City Treasurer, Clerk of the Board of Control, and Clerk to the Director of Public Safety and Public Service. During the seven years in which she has been connected with the city's finances, Miss Moriarty has spent over four million dollars for bridges, sewers and water systems which are as good as are to be found in any city of its size. Elkhart numbers about 15,000 inhabitants.

A number of women sheriffs in the country fill this somewhat unusual office in a manner that materially aids in promoting law and order in the community. Miss Nancy Hays Mills recently was appointed Sheriff of Laclede county, Missouri, to succeed her husband who died in office. A woman deputy sheriff recently has been appointed in Dutchess county, New York. She will have for her special mission the finding of suitable homes for the children of dissolute or incompetent parents. A number of women have accepted appointments as game wardens or deputy game wardens. Mrs. B. B. Buffham of Roswell, New Mexico, is a game warden who is giving special attention to saving the native song birds of that locality. She has secured special legislation and is a terror to all who in any way infringe upon the rights of the birds under her protection.

The number of women legislators in the country is increasing, but the newspapers still continue to give them no notice. The fact that Mrs. Helen Ring Robinson of Colorado greeted one of her woman colleagues with a

THE HASKIN LETTER

THE MODERN WOMAN
XXIII—WOMEN IN PUBLIC AFFAIRS
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Of women in public affairs, those who are actual office holders naturally are first in the public eye. These are increasing rapidly in number, and the official field open to them is broadening. The first office to which women were eligible in most of the states was that of local school director. They have a right to hold this office in thirty states and there are now more than six hundred women school directors in the country. They are all giving a considerable amount of time gratuitously to the improvement of the schools under their direction, and to their influence must be largely attributed the improvement in schools of the country. Better qualifications for teachers and more attention to the comfort and health of school children is being brought about by the women school directors.

In Kansas, no less than seventy-four women are holding public offices to which they have been elected by the votes of men. These include forty-five county superintendents, five county clerks, six county treasurers, six district court clerks, ten recorders of deeds, two probate judges and one mayor. In addition to these are a number of offices which have been filled by appointment. The much-exploited fact that women in Kansas have been unwilling to serve as jurors has been contradicted by the fact that the women of the state are up in arms against the repeal of the measure which qualified them for jury service. While a few women shirked their duty, as have many men before them, the women of the state wish to be credited as a whole with being ready and willing to fulfill any public duty which falls to them.

A number of women have filled the office of town marshal but not many of them have been called upon to arrest the deputy sheriff, the assistant postmaster and two other men for gambling on Sunday. That duty was performed by Mrs. Rosa Gibson, town marshal of Emporia, Kansas. While on her way to church Mrs. Gibson heard the words, "to insure promptness," and she was being committed in one of the store rooms upon the main street. She went to court and summoned to her aid Mrs. Ella Wilson, the much talked of woman mayor, and Mrs. Hilpin, the town clerk. The three women then entered the room where the gambling was in progress and placed the men under arrest. They were permitted to give bonds for their appearance at court and their friendly game was broken up.

Women are acting as judges of minor courts in a number of cities and towns. The first woman judge to be appointed in the city of Chicago was Miss Mary Bartelme, who was appointed only a few weeks ago to assist Judge Bickney in the juvenile court. Miss Bartelme has served as public guardian in Cook county for 18 years and was the unanimous choice of all of the judges, each of whom at some time had come into contact with her work. In her present position, Miss Bartelme is doing most of the attention to the help of the young girls who come under the jurisdiction of the court. "My idea of being a judge," said Miss Bartelme, upon being informed of her appointment, "is not so much to pass judgment upon those who have done wrong as to assist the unfortunate." The appointment of Miss Gail Laughlin of Colorado, as a member of the state board of pardons, is another evidence of the judicial responsibility which is being placed in the hands of women.

The work of Miss Kate Barnard as the head of the state department of charities and corrections in Oklahoma, has attracted nationwide interest and admiration.

In such offices as affect the conditions of public utilities, women are rendering exceptionally good public service in many cities. When Mrs. Sarah Evans was appointed inspector of markets in Portland, Oregon, there was much opposition to the reform she insisted upon regarding the handling of food products. Within two years she had brought about almost ideal conditions, securing ordinances requiring the protection of glass coverings for all kinds of food products and a greater personal cleanliness upon the part of those engaged in food selling. Mrs. Caroline Bartlett Crane of Kalamazoo, Michigan, has done much public work in the interest of pure food and greater care in its handling. Her testimony before a United States committee regarding faulty methods in the preparation and handling of fresh meats has been the basis of great reform in the legal requirements for vendors of this food.

The work of women in the improvement of public conveyances is beginning to be felt, especially in New York city, where the most active work is being done chiefly through the efforts of Miss Sophie Irene Loeb, who has undertaken the task of reforming the cab and taxi service of that city and placing them more nearly upon a par with those of European cities. Miss Loeb has visited Paris, London and Berlin for the purpose of studying the cabs and restrictions governing the cab public conveyances and taxicabs which are available to the public at this food.

 Lansing, Kan., refusing the request of Joe Garcia, aged 38 years, who has been at the city jail for several days,
 that he be taken back into that insti-

 Dayton, O. The contributions to which these letters refer were those taken up by subscription list at the news-

200 NEW PROSPECTS FOR C. OF C. MEMBERS

Four Subcommittees Gets Busy
to Secure Additional Names,
to Cover Entire City

The membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce got down to details at its meeting and luncheon at the Alamo hotel yesterday noon, and mapped out further plans for the campaign it is conducting to increase the membership of the organization.

The general committee has been subdivided into four subcommittees, each
 under the leadership of a captain.
 Each week one of these committees
 will be at work, and in the middle of the month all four will have covered the work assigned to the committee for the month.

These committees are as follows:
 Fred A. Sperry, captain; Fred L.
 Grisey, W. E. McClung, Miles Cook
 and A. M. Hill.

W. R. McCoy, captain; M. E. Clotworthy, Charles E. Emery, Fred Fairley and A. E. Maunder.
 Roy A. Davis, captain; E. A. Sawyer, M. B. Hurley, Willis L. Strachan
 and L. P. Leaton.
 L. P. Leaton, captain; L. C. Perkins, Cliff Hutton, C. C. Wells, Willis
 V. Sims and J. S. Aschenbrenner.

More than 200 prospects have been assigned to the various members and committees, and these will furnish the material for the first month's campaign. Several applications were presented at yesterday's meeting and
 these will be recommended to the directors for election.

Chairman Frank Cotten, who has been absent from the city for several weeks, has returned and attended yesterday's meeting. He complimented Vice Chairman Rod Powell and his associates upon the splendid results accomplished in organizing the work and showing such substantial progress.

 and as soon as the track is cleared of
 the heavy snows the trains will start.
 The Mount Manitou incline railway
 will start operations about May 15,
 and a large force of carpenters is now
 busy getting the new pavilion and restaurant under construction.

A DAINTY TOILET ARTICLE

Every lady who desires to keep up her attractive appearance, while at

 occasions should carry in her purse a booklet of Gouard's Oriental Beauty Leaves. This is a dainty little booklet of exquisitely perfumed powdered
 leaves which are easily removed and applied to the skin. It is invaluable
 when the face becomes moist and
 flushed and is far superior to a powder put on as it does not spill and soil
 the clothes.

It removes dirt, dust and grease from
 the face, imparting a cool, delicate

SPRINKLING HOURS ARE

ANNOUNCED BY DEP'T

The water department has issued the
 rules and regulations for sprinkling,
 and every effort is to be made to enforce these orders. No sprinkling is to be done without the use of a nozzle of not more than one-quarter inch diameter. The hours for sprinkling in the various parts of the city are as follows:

Division 1.—All territory west of Monument street to Colorado City
 from 6 to 8 a. m. and from 6 to 7 p. m.
 Division 2.—All territory between Monument creek and Santa Fe railway and south of Pikes Peak avenue.
 From 5:30 to 7 a. m. and from 5 to 6:30
 p. m.
 Division 3.—All territory between Monument creek and the Santa Fe
 railway and north of Pikes Peak avenue to south side of Cache la Poudre street. From 6 to 10 a. m. and 7 to 9
 p. m.
 Division 4.—All territory between
 Monument creek and the Santa Fe
 railway from north side, Cache la Poudre street north to city limits. From 6:30 to 8:30 a. m. and 5:30 to 6:30 p. m.

H. S. SENIORS TO PLANT

IVY, BREAKFAST AND HIKE

Senior Arbor day exercises, one of the most interesting of High school
 events, will be observed tomorrow
 morning at the High school building,
 when the planting of the ivy, the senior breakfast and the hike up Ute pass
 to Cascade will make up the festivities. Each graduating class plants an ivy, each senior placing a shovelful
 of dirt by the vine. A short address will be given by Ralph Peltz, president of the class, and Edward Garber, president of the juniors, will respond.
 The breakfast will be in charge of Edward Morath, and will be prepared by the senior boys. An elaborate menu
 has been promised. After the breakfast, the class will go to Cascade by way of Ute pass and return about 6 p. m.

TAKES POSSESSION OF WORK PROPERTY

Doctor-Jack Pot Executes Big Court Judgment; Work
Will File Exceptions

According to word received from Cripple Creek yesterday, Deputy United States Marshal Thomas Clark has taken possession of the property of the Work Mining & Milling Co., located on Gold and Raven hills, under the judgment of $400,000 rendered in the United States district court March 18, in favor of the Doctor-Jack Pot Mining company. P. Butler has been appointed custodian, and has taken charge of the property.

The Doctor-Jack Pot company filed
 suit in the United States district court
 against the Work company for damages for ore alleged to have been taken
 and which it claimed by right of apex.
 The court found for the plaintiff, and the Work company appealed to the United States court of appeals. This tribunal sustained the ruling of Judge
 R. E. Lewis in the United States district court, and remanded the case
 back for jury trial to determine the exact amount of damages due. The Work
 company petitioned the United States
 supreme court for a writ of certiorari
 to review the decision of the court of appeals, but the supreme court refused
 to grant the writ.

Attorneys for the Work company
 now are preparing a bill of exceptions
 with a view to having the judgment
 of the district court reviewed by the circuit court of appeals. This will be done by writ of error instead of on appeal, as the company cannot appeal
 without giving bond in the sum of $432,000, nor can it furnish bond to stay execution.

J. Arthur Connell of this city is president of the Work company, and W. H.
 Waterson, also of Colorado Springs, is secretary-treasurer.

PROMINENT RAILROAD

MEN DISCUSS PASSENGER

RATES AT MEETING HERE

Passenger rates were discussed yesterday morning at the Antlers hotel at an informal conference of several prominent western railroad men.
 Some of the men attending the conference were E. E. MacLeod, chairman, and T. Thompson, secretary, of the Western Passenger association;
 C. H. Speers of the Colorado Midland;
 F. A. Wade of the Denver and Rio Grande; George W. Martin of the Rock Island; S. R. Drury of the Colorado and Southern; and Burlington, and J. P. Hall of the Santa Fe. The railroad executives were the guests of W. C. Dettmer, on the Crystal Park
 trip yesterday afternoon.

DENVER PRESS CLUB IS

COMING HERE SUNDAY

The Denver Press club, more than 100 strong, will arrive in Colorado Springs Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock
 on route to Cripple Creek, where the annual outing will be held. The party will go to the district by way of the Short Line and will be guests of President Allen L. Burris of the El Paso Consolidated Gold Mining Co., at a dinner on the 1,000-foot level of that mine. The newspapermen will return
 here Sunday evening and will be guests
 at a banquet at the Antlers given by Manager W. S. Dunning. They will return to Denver Sunday night.

COUNCIL IS KEPT BUSY

WITH ROUTINE MATTERS

The city council had a busy session
 yesterday morning with various routine
 matters. Commissioner Himebaugh
 recommended the temporary appointment of Charles E. VanNatta and Frank V. Hunsicker to fill vacancies in the fire department, but Mayor Avery refused to appoint them until after a personal conference to be held today. He stated that they could be put to work at once if necessary.

The Santa Fe drug company made application for a liquor license and the hearing was set for April 30 at 10 a. m. The application of the Phillips-Smith drug company for a license was granted.

The council authorized the mayor
 and clerk to sign a license from the Santa Fe railroad for the use by the city of a strip of ground adjoining
 the company's tracks between Platte
 avenue and Bijou street. The ground
 will be used for an alley, and the agreement protects the railroad's title to the land.

A communication signed by Carolyn Hall Sturgis, chairman of the city
 planning committee of the Civic league,
 was read to the council. It endorsed the recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce that the commissioner of public works attend the fifth annual conference on city planning to be held in Chicago, May 5 to 7. The matter was laid over until the next meeting.

The mayor received a letter yesterday from Thomas A. Story, of the college of the city of New York, secretary
 of the fourth international congress of school hygiene to be held at Buffalo, August 25 to 30, asking him to give all
 publicity possible to this meeting.

Arguments were presented by residents of the northeast part of the city,
 asking the council to order sidewalks
 laid on Custer street from Uintah
 to Monument, and for gravel blocks on Uintah street. The matter was referred to Commissioner Lawton.

KANSAS WORKING ON LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Local members of the Lincoln Highway association are jubilant over the announcement that the commissioners of Sherman county, Kansas, have let
 a contract for the extension of the Golden Belt road across that county
 from east to west, a total distance of 50 miles. The Golden Belt road in Kansas is a continuation of the Lincoln Highway through Colorado, and the road construction in Kansas greatly helps the Colorado people in their work. The news of the contract was received in this city through a letter
 from D. N. Kysar of the Goodland Kas. Commercial club, and the officers of the Lincoln Highway association are sending it out to the community.

Colorado City DEPARTMENT

NO CHANGE SHOWN BY OFFICIAL COUNT

Although no figures were given out,
 the official canvass of the vote at the election Tuesday, announced at an adjourned meeting of the Colorado City council last night, left the results of the election the same as given in The Gazette yesterday morning. The new officers—James D. Faulkner as mayor, commissioner of public affairs, Mrs. May Ammerman as commissioner of records and seal, and Charles B. Styles as commissioner of public highways—will be sworn in at a regular meeting of the council Monday night.

Little business was transacted at the meeting last night. Two bonds of $1,000 each were accepted—that of D.
 F. Burson for laying cement walks, and one from the Worcester Plumbing company. Alderman Falk, as chairman of the finance committee of the council,
 presented a report covering the last two years. This report showed that during the two years permanent improvements to the value of $15,000
 have been made in the city.

James D. Faulkner, mayor-elect, was present at the meeting and made a short talk to the council. He said:

"During my term of office all the
 city officers will be in this building.
 When you want the city officers you will find them here, instead of having to hunt for them all around town. The books and records will be always here.
 But I want this council hall—where the
 officers will be—put in better repair.
 To all appearances the place has never
 been touched as far as repairs go,
 since I was mayor here 10 or 11 years
 ago. If people come here to do business with the city, the city officers are what they will see. If the city officers look run down people will think the rest of the town is in the same condition. The present council can get these repairs much better and cheaper than we can when we are getting underway with the new administration under the charter, but if I were in the mayor's chair now I would get this matter attended to without waiting for action by the council."
 Mayor Himebaugh, with the consent of the council, referred the matter of the repairs to the public buildings committee with power to act.

MAYOR-ELECT ISSUES

STATEMENT TO PUBLIC

James D. Faulkner, the newly elected commissioner of public affairs of Colorado City, has issued a statement
 explaining the stand he will take while
 in office, particularly with reference to the local option law. He makes the pledge that Colorado City shall become a "dry" territory in every intent of the law. The statement is as follows:

To the Citizens of the City of Colorado City:
 Greeting: At a late election, you
 by ballot voted to determine the uncertain tone that Colorado City for the next two years at least, shall become and remain dry territory. I should like to see that law, now that it has become the law, enforced and tested in a fair, upright, honest and impartial manner.

I have lived in Colorado City some 45 years or more, and during that time I have held every office within the city limits, although it is said
 that "political promises are only made to be broken." I believe that I can truthfully say that never in my official life have I broken a promise made to the people, or constituted public service for persons and things. If the truth of this assertion I refer you to the public at large, and especially to your next-door neighbor.

I now, without any mental or other reservation, submit myself to the test far at least, that "Colorado City,
 during my term of office, or at least,
 during the next two years, shall become dry territory in every intent of the law, as far as personal effort and honest effort for persons and things
 can be obtained, can make it so, for I believe that the people of Colorado City,
 both wet and dry, demand that this
 question shall be given a fair square,
 honest and faithful trial, and I do not claim that I have not, cannot, or
 will not make mistakes but I do claim,
 and claim it without fear of success-
 ever tried to serve the public more honestly and faithfully than I have done. I am one of your heaviest taxpayers and property owners; when you
 prosper I prosper; when your property
 increases in value, my property also increases in value; what decreases the value of your property decreases the value of mine.

I expect to live here the remainder of my life, and expect to be buried here when I die, and I do not expect to live up to them, and have you or any one of you point the finger of scorn at me and say, "You obtained
 the office you now hold by false and fraudulent representation; you have not lived up to it or tried to live up to the promises and pledges you voluntarily made without being requested to do so by just. Do you think for one moment I could state that? No, sir.

News of Local Courts

Seven tramps, arraigned in police court yesterday for investigation, were fined $10 each for vagrancy. Sentence was suspended on condition they leave the city within two hours. Three others who had been held several days
 for investigation also were ordered to leave the city.

While about to leave on a train for Pueblo, Steve Kuhl, 17 years old, was arrested yesterday morning at the Denver & Rio Grande depot by Detectives Gast and Rowan. The boy carried a revolver and his pockets were filled with currency. He is accused of stealing $200 from an Austrian who boards at the home of Kuhl's parents
 on South Sixth street in Colorado City.

To Absorb Freckles and Other Blemishes

Every spring I receive many letters from girls seeking some reliable recipe for removing freckles. Last year I advised them to use a certain cream. Such favorable results were reported that this season I have recommended nothing else for the purpose. The wax seems to possess
 unusual properties, which completely absorb every freckle, with no harmful effect.
 The complexion improves wonderfully,
 becoming as soft as a rose petal, and as delicately tinted.
 Get an ounce of meringue wax at any drugist, spread a thin layer of it over
 the freckles, leave every night for awhile,
 then wash this off in the morning. For rough, red skin, sallowness, blackheads,
 pimples, and all cutaneous blemishes, this treatment is superior to any that has ever
 come under my observation.
 Springtime also brings wrinkles to many sensitive skins that are much exposed to winds and changing temperatures. Pour
 a half pint witch hazel into a basin, then an ounce of powdered azoicite, which quickly dissolves. Bathe the face in this.
 The effect on a wrinkled skin is remarkable. Marie Demarest in Ladies' Favorite Magazine.

BISHAM SINGS IN THE PRIME-VAL FOREST

The Bohemian Club's Music Drama in the Redwoods

Every summer the Bohemian club of San Francisco gives an outdoor production in its grove in the Redwood forest, 75 miles north of that city. The performances which originated in the fun around the camp fire at annual outings of the club have developed into prearranged music dramas which are planned months in advance.

This year's grove play is entitled, "The Attonement of Pan," and is the joint effort of Joseph D. Redding, the librettist of "Violet Herbert's" "Na-

DAVID BISHAM,
America's Greatest Dramatic Singer.
Who Comes to The Empress
Friday, Eve.

...toma," and of Henry Hadley, the American composer and conductor, now directing the San Francisco Symphony orchestra.

Two hundred took part in the production and David Bispham, who sang the title role in the club's opera, "The Case Man," two seasons ago, this year again had the leading part indicating how splendidly his art as singer and actor is regarded among the members of the club, who are for the most part musicians, actors or critics of the arts.

Mr. Bispham tells us that he fairly revels in the music. He says: "Beginning with the prolog, the music is of the most grateful character, for Pan in his gentler moods, while his denunciations of Ogden and Silenus are masterful in their original phrases. The prayer to Diana in the second act is a noble, lofty piece of writing for the voice. The music, choruses are strong, the dance music of the nymphs is enchanting, while the flight of the harp in a most original piece of orchestration. The concluding music, in which Pan makes his atonement, is a splendid outburst and a worthy finale to an extremely fine work. All of this, heightened by the illumination of the hillside, caused many men in the audience to be so overcome that they could not restrain their tears. Enthusiasm on all sides was absolutely genuine and caused a prolonged exhibition of feeling as I, in a very considerable experience, have ever known."

The enthusiasm aroused by this production is much more than a matter of merely local or sentimental interest. The authors have been offered large financial inducements to reproduce "The Attonement of Pan" with David Bispham in the title role, in other parts of the United States and it is to be hoped that arrangements to this end can be made, although Mr. Bispham's concert tour of Australia and his previous engagement for a star part in light opera next season will, for a time, prevent his participation in its production.

Mr. Bispham's high standing as a singer and actor could not be more fully attested than by the fact that he has, as just mentioned, taken the leading part in the different music dramas of the Bohemian Club for several summers.

Not since the appearance here some years ago of Amato, has a man singer of first rank come to the city until Bispham's engagement at the Empress for Friday evening of this week. Mr. Bispham has made a place for himself in the hearts of music lovers everywhere through the wonderful dramatic and deeply personal quality of his singing. His immense popularity is perhaps best shown by the repeated engagements he secures wherever he goes to sing. No stronger test of his ability could be made than this.

The program which Mr. Bispham will give combines ancient and old-time classical songs of quaint charm, with modern and recent compositions featuring in the latter group the songs of some of America's greatest song-writers.

Of special interest to his Colorado Springs audience will be the inclusion on the program of our own Frederic Ayres Johnson's famous "Sea Dirge," a song which many consider the finest of Frederic Ayres' compositions, has been sung frequently by Mr. Bispham and his rendition of it is without question one of the most effective things he has ever done.

Many seats for the recital have been placed on sale at very moderate prices. Sale at Hiltbrand's until the box office, on the day of the recital. Reservations may be made by telephone if desired. Main 913.

GREAT INTEREST IN TOUR OF NATIONS

Many inquiries are being made as to the handling of this trip. Crystal park cars will be lined up at America's (First Baptist Church) and will begin the trip at 7:30, and regularly thereafter. The first country to be visited will be Mexico, then China, Africa, Scotland, Japan and Ireland (Mueller) where refreshments will be served. The trip will require from an hour and a half to two hours. Elaborate preparations are being made to entertain the crowd expected.

Ugly Sores Quickly Banished

You Marvel How Worst Skin Eruptions Disappear as Result of Famous Remedy.

If you have been fighting some blood troubles, some eruptive skin disease, call it eczema, lupus, psoriasis, scabies, or some other name, you will, there is but one sure, safe way to cure it. Ask at any drug store for a $1.00 bottle of S. S. S. and you are then on the road to health. The action of this remarkable remedy is just as direct, just as positive, just as certain in its influence as that the sun rises in the east. It is one of those rare medical forces which act in the blood, with the same degree of certainty that is found in all natural tendencies. The manner in which it dominates and controls the mysterious transference of rich, red, pure arterial blood for the diseased venous blood is marvelous.

Out through every skin pore acids, germs and other blood impurities are forced in the form of invisible vapor. The lungs breathe it out, the liver is stimulated to consume a great proportion of impurities, the stomach and intestines cease to convey into the blood stream the catarrhal, malarial germs; the bowels, kidneys, bladder and all emunctories of the body are marshaled into a fighting force to expel every vestige of eruptive disease.

There is scarcely a community anywhere but what has its living example of the wonderful curative effects of S. S. S. Get a bottle of this famous remedy today, and if your case is stubborn or peculiar write to The S. S. S. Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. STAGE HAPPENINGS

HORSE RACE ON STAGE CROWDS EMPRESS LAST NIGHT

To stage a horse race is something of a feat on any stage. Nevertheless, while handicapped by a small stage, "The Suburban Winner," a dramatic race, showing the thrilling spectacle of three horses racing side by side, in full view of the audience, is the feature of the vaudeville bill at the Empress this week. It takes a company of ten people and a corral of special scenery and properties to put on this stirring drama of the turf, but it is well staged and without question, the most thrilling act yet to be offered at the Empress.

The remainder of the show is well balanced and enjoyable. Artie Nelson, one of the famous Nelson family of

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA CONCERT

An event of real interest to music lovers will occur on Tuesday evening, April 22, in Perkins hall, when the college orchestra will give its first concert under the direction of Mrs. George M. Howe. A very attractive program is being arranged and those who have already heard the orchestra are unanimous in declaring that its work is worthy of an organization of much longer standing and experience than that of this student orchestra. The event is looked forward to with great interest, and the players will undoubtedly be greeted by a large audience.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL KILLS SELF IN GRAND JUNCTION

Mrs. Beate Trezise, aged 21, formerly a resident of Colorado Springs, where she is said to have worked in various restaurants, committed suicide yesterday morning at Grand Junction by drinking a quantity of carbolic acid. Mrs. Trezise was formerly Miss Beate Casaba, and according to her husband, F. A. Trezise, worked in a Colorado Springs restaurant before going to the Grand Junction. Before going to the Grand Junction, Mrs. Trezise had made two former attempts to kill herself, claiming that her husband had deserted her. The girl was a Bohemian and came to the United States two years ago.

Chinese Pheasants to Be Distributed Here

As part of the effort being made by the authorities for the introduction of Chinese pheasants throughout the state, twelve of the birds will be brought here this week from Denver, by Senator Arthur Combs and will be turned loose at Stratton park, the country club, and several other suitable places. They are among a large number being set free in various sections of the state in the hope that they will multiply. A very heavy penalty is exacted for the killing of any of these birds.

C. H. MANN, VETERAN OF CAPITOL, DEAD; AGED 74

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Charles H. Mann for more than a quarter of a century superintendent of the press gallery of the house of representatives, died early today after an illness of several weeks. He was 74 years old. He had been in bad health for several months and in spite of the advice of his friends insisted upon remaining at his post during the trying days of the last session. He died shortly after.

Mr. Mann, who had been in charge of the gallery since 1878, knew probably more public men and newspaper men than any other office official in the United States. Arrangements for his funeral have not yet been made.
